

Name _____

How Many People Are in My Home?

Adults at Home: Today we learned that the census counts people. Counting people helps the government make important decisions—like how many parks we need or how many schools we should have. It's important to be counted in the census!

Let your child draw a picture of everyone who lives in your home. Then guide them in counting how many people live in your home.

I have _____ people in my home.