

Sentences

Circle the word in parentheses that correctly completes each sentence.

1. Each nurse in our hospital (disregard/hide/attends) to 15 patients at a time.
2. Jim is quite (absent-minded/alert/aware) and sometimes forgets to pick the kids up from school.
3. She felt bad after she was (gentle/good/horrible) to her sister.
4. (Similar/Unlike/Like) his other writings, this book was not for scientists.
5. Ben claims that he can taste the (adjustment/shift/difference) between the two brands of chocolate.
6. The planet Mars has a surface which is somewhat (unrelated/similar/opposite) to that of our moon.
7. My son has the most (fantastic/regular/common) imagination.
8. All that extra training is paying (harm/injure/dividends).
9. I like to look at the (geometry/algebra/division) of spiders' webs.
10. The students are easily (calmed/distracted/cultured), especially when they're tired.

Sentences

Circle the word in parentheses that correctly completes each sentence.

1. Each nurse in our hospital (disregard/hide/attends) to 15 patients at a time.
2. Jim is quite (absent-minded/alert/aware) and sometimes forgets to pick the kids up from school.
3. She felt bad after she was (gentle/good/horrible) to her sister.
4. (Similar/Unlike/Like) his other writings, this book was not for scientists.
5. Ben claims that he can taste the (adjustment/shift/difference) between the two brands of chocolate.
6. The planet Mars has a surface which is somewhat (unrelated/similar/opposite) to that of our moon.
7. My son has the most (fantastic/regular/common) imagination.
8. All that extra training is paying (harm/injure/dividends).
9. I like to look at the (geometry/algebra/division) of spiders' webs.
10. The students are easily (calmed/distracted/cultured), especially when they're tired.