Circle the correct answer to each question.

How would her words be consistent with her actions?

- She feels sleepy and stays up to read a book
- She feels lively and lies down in bed
- She’s exhausted and she runs around the school
- She says she’s hungry and she makes herself a sandwich

What place would be a good resource for information?

- A library
- A gas station
- A restaurant
- A playground

Where would be a perfect setting for a summer picnic?

- A park
- The kitchen
- School
- In front of the TV

Does an imaginary friend exist in real life?

- Yes
- No
- Maybe
- Perhaps

When would you need an illustration?

- When you need a pen and paper
- When written instructions are tough and it’s easier to understand a picture or diagram
- When you want to read the instructions
- When you want to listen to the instructions
Circle the correct answer to each question.

How would her words be consistent with her actions?

She feels sleepy and stays up to read a book

She feels lively and lies down in bed

She’s exhausted and she runs around the school

She says she’s hungry and she makes herself a sandwich

What place would be a good resource for information?

A library

A gas station

A restaurant

A playground

Where would be a perfect setting for a summer picnic?

A park

The kitchen

School

In front of the TV

Does an imaginary friend exist in real life?

Yes

No

Maybe

Perhaps

When would you need an illustration?

When you need a pen and paper

When you want to read the instructions

When written instructions are tough and it’s easier to understand a picture or diagram

When you want to listen to the instructions

Online reading & math for K-5 © www.k5learning.com